Automated System Speeds Customer Feedback

The Interactive Customer Evaluation system is an entirely automated system allowing customers a means to provide input about 6th Area Support Group service agencies and get quick results. Customers provide input into the system through customer comment cards that are accessed and submitted over the Internet. The Web-based customer comment card system is a prototype that will be tested on other military installations in Europe during the next few months.

To make access easier for customers, the 6th ASG is working to obtain computers that are no longer required by work centers. These computers will be used as ICE terminals and placed in high-traffic areas. Having these terminals in the service areas will allow customers to send a compliment or complaint to management before leaving the facility.

To use the ICE system, log onto the 6th ASG Web site (www.stuttgart.army.mil) and locate the ICE page. Then click the button for the specific facility and fill out the comment card. Customers may submit their input anonymously or complete the personal information portion to allow management officials to contact them within three business days.
